MASAE Introduced at Breakfast Meeting

During the 2009 Annual Conference & Exhibition held at Caesars Atlantic City on December 10, the merger of the New Jersey Society of Association Executives and Delaware Valley Society of Association Executives into the new Mid-Atlantic Society of Association Executives was formally introduced at the member breakfast meeting. Ray Saputelli, NJSAE President and Victoria Elliott, DVSAE President officially signed the merger agreement in front of both organization's members and then introduced the new MASAE board and its President Brian Summers, COO of Construction Financial Management Association.

"I am very proud to serve as MASAE's first president and to help bring this society and its goals to fulfillment," stated Summers. "Our goals for the new society include enhancing education and networking events over a broader geographic area, providing better CAE training programs, growing the Annual Conference, establishing a deeper pool of future leaders, creating a more valuable web site, and providing a more stable financial base for the future of our association."

Summers and MASAE Vice President/President-Elect Victoria Elliott invited members to get involved in the new society and to sign up for participation in the committees. "We need your help and active participation in the new society to fulfill the objectives of this merger. We also want to hear from you on your ideas for new benefits and services of value to you," said Summers.

MASAE members can reach Brian Summers at bsummers@cfma.org and Victoria Elliott at velliott@ahint.com. The new MASAE contact information is:
